Munch & Social Guidelines

What is a munch or social event?

They are a purely social event held in a totally neutral environment, often somewhere like a pub, where members of Swinging Heaven get to meet each other. As there's no play involved everyone can relax which gives newbie's a chance to ask questions of the more experienced members in a no pressure relaxed environment.

They are a great way to finally meet all those people you've been chatting with on the site, or just to make new friends.

How to find out about munches or other arranged social events?

You'll find organised Swingers Munches 'stickied' at the top of the Let's Meet Up forum. Or you can simply look on the events section of the site. The exact location is kept strictly private between the organisers and those who are attending the event for privacy reasons.

Who can attend a munch or social event?

Anyone can register to attend a munch providing they are an active member of the site and have not been banned, however they need to be accepted by the organiser.

Social events are different in that they are generally not specifically organised by site members just for site users, so you need to be aware that non members or banned members might be in attendance.

Are these official SH events?

No, they are organised by members of the site for members of the site. They are not organised in any official capacity by the site. SH takes no responsibility for anything that happens at these events.

Munch Rules

- Only people who have been accepted can attend the event.
- It should be a non profit and non commercial event.
- Only active site members can attend a munch who are not banned.
- No products, services, or promotion of any kind can take place

Rules for socials

- Only people who have been accepted can attend the event.
- It should be a non profit and non commercial event.
- The event is the responsibility of the organiser and a list of attendees is to be made available if requested.
- If you know that banned members are attending you should provide site members with the details as soon as possible.
- No products, services, or promotion of any kind can take place

Anyone who breaks the above rules or who's conduct does not act in the "spirit" of the event could be blacklisted from attending further events, or banned from using the site.
