

Young Harlots - the Governess

This is hardcore – and it is very good hardcore indeed. Good enough to lay a motorway on. It has a great cast-list of well-known stars and is directed by the almost legendary Gazzman. It is the latest in a string of Harmony releases featuring 'the Young Harlots'. The Young Harlots series is really aimed at the market that understands words such as 'nymphet', but works so well as there is always an element of more mature ladies helping the nymphet's along.

With a running time of nearly two and a half hours, it's not surprising that this film covers virtually everything in its six long scenes. Your reviewer's favourites were scene three, which is a thrilling MMMF coming together, and scene five that involves a long multi-toy lesbian sequence including close up squirting and drinking shots. There is much to enjoy throughout this disc including multiple BJ's, DP's and TP's.

The film has a sort of surreal storyline involving dream sequences and a Goth-like governess (rather like Morticia) gradually introducing her young charges to the joys of unbridled, uninhibited, anything-goes sex.

Being shot in HD, the quality is as excellent as the content, and the disc offers many features, including subtitles in nine languages and three bonus scenes – the best of which is 'Backstage', where you can see that the actors really do enjoy their calling. They're not acting so much as having a damn good time. There are also four trailers of other Harmony productions.

I am really struggling now to find anything to say other than to heap praise on this film. I am supposed to be critical and find fault as well. Okay, I've just watched it again, and if I can be really picky, it could do with just a little bit of dialogue and maybe the governess should be ordering her acolytes around a tad more aggressively. But this is just pathetic criticism on my part, for an otherwise absolutely wonderful product.

All of this is available for the paltry sum of £24.99, direct from Harmony. Currently, they have three London retail outlets located in Oxford Street, Charing Cross Road and Walkers Court W1. Their products will soon be available online from www.harmonyuk.com

I give it 9 out of 10

Girlfish

All things are better with a plot – however bizarre – and this wet and messy vinyl offering from the highly respected Artscene Publications certainly has a bizarre plot. It goes like this:

'In the year 2084, after the holocaust, only the Girlfish survive. They are policed by 'The Pinkies', the security force who watch over them in the safe areas. Virtually all males have been wiped out and it is The Pinkies' job to secure the few that are left, along with the ripe young virgins, to ensure the survival of the race. But the virgins are plundered by 'The Takers' – a band of sex-starved lesbians, who are in turn hunted ruthlessly by The Pinkies. In this wet and messy world, the remaining girls live only for pleasure.'

No matter how mad this may seem, it results in a quite wonderful film that appeals to people who are into the 'rubber' look, the wet look and the messy or splashing look. It works on all three counts with an amazing array of vinyl and latex costumes. The scenes encompass a variety of concepts – very attractive actresses indulge in lesbian episodes and strip to topless and naked in wet environments, ranging through Jacuzzis and streams to waterfalls and mud pits – and they employ enough food in the form of custard, baked beans, spaghetti and tomato soup to feed a Third-World nation for a week – or half a dozen English teenagers for a couple of days.

Shot mainly in the great outdoors, some of the best scenes take place inside, including probably the best, in which a girl in ordinary clothes is tied up and covered in golden syrup by a latex clad dominatrix, before roles are reversed and custard is deployed before both girls end up topless and totally covered in almost everything imaginable.

You don't have to be a messy and wet or a rubber-look fan to really enjoy this offering. But if you are any of the above, you'll think it's really good – and if you're all three, you'll think it's great. I only have one real criticism, and that's the lack of DVD features. You just have to treat it as though you were watching a video – although you can go forward and back through chapters.

With a running time of 70 minutes, this film comes in at £25, and is most easily obtained online from www.artsaqua.co.uk

I give it 7.5 out of 10

Vinyl Virgins

A very good rubber and vinyl short film from Artscene Productions, featuring four models and a stunning array of vinyl and latex clothing – both dry and, hardly surprisingly for Artscene, wet.

Scene 1 has a single brunette girl taking a shower in a red latex dress, during which she explores every part of her own body before stripping down to just stockings and suspenders. A nice, albeit somewhat relaxed opening – to the dvd, that is.

In the second scene we are treated to some BDSM. It starts with a kneeling girl in a black latex bodice being taken on a lead to a spa-type shower, after which she is subjected to some mild flagellation before a third girl joins in the group showering and groping. After a few minutes, the three of them move on to accost the girl from Scene 1, who is now wearing a striking floor-length black vinyl dress and drinking wine by the poolside. After a bottle of wine is poured down her dress and used to fill her vinyl knickers amid mild lesbian petting, all four girls leap into the pool for a few minutes' horseplay.

A nice follow-up with a single girl bath – again in a lovely red latex top and skirt and black latex hold-ups. After a short time she strips naked under a shower and we have a lovely close up sequence of her masturbating with her fingers while playing the shower over her pussy.

The final scene features a two-girl, latex-clad, lesbian event – after which they both strip and carry on in similar vein while naked. No water this time.

As with all Artscene films, the sexual element is implied rather than being explicit – but there is nothing wrong in that, and judging by the nipple reactions, all of the girls are genuinely enjoying themselves! Having said that, it would be better if the girls took some of the BDSM elements a little more seriously.

Vinyl Virgins is only 30 minutes long, but then it's hard to imagine what other elements could be added, so it's about the right length and this is reflected in the lowish price of £15.

Available direct from www.artsaqua.co.uk

I rate it 6 out of 10 for 'rubber'- look fans, 5 out of 10 for wet-look fans – but 7 out of 10 if you are into both scenes

