

Loosening up

On leaving this area, our next stop is the bedrooms upstairs, where it's easy to glide in and out through unlocked doors, behind which laid-back couples take sex in their stride. By now our bar mood is lost, and nakedness is the only solution.

In the changing areas, lockers are provided and we use the locker key provided by the receptionist. Lockers, like suitcases, can always be bigger – although I do point out to my partner that perhaps her long leather boots might be responsible for some of the crush.

A more welcome crush awaits us in the spa where, once we've deposited the towels we were wearing, we decide to take the plunge. This is quite a significant decision because we're normally Jacuzzi-phobic. However, earlier on when being served drinks by the amiable manager, Mark, we were told that the spa uses state-of-the-art filters which rank among the best in Europe. This is corroborated by the distinct lack of 'spa-smell' that you get in some places. This, combined with the general upkeep of the club (girls – you should see their bathrooms!) made it easy to take a dip in the inviting waters, and most enjoyable it was, too.

Emerging (a lot later) from our dip, we use the adjacent shower and look properly for the first time at the surrounding space. It's a vast, dark cavern with makeshift beds all around. More specifically, it's full of couples fucking. Our 'when in Rome' attitude kicks in and finally we spot a semi-free bed. It's semi-free because a thirty-something guest is sprawled out on it thoroughly enjoying her partner's tongue. It's apparent that in this room couples, of all ages, prefer to keep the fun between themselves and are not too concerned with the swapping aspect. Of course it happens, but there was a sense that it wasn't as overt as in some other clubs, and for a couples' night, the atmosphere felt pitched about right, particularly for new couples.

To optimise the fun it's a good idea to book one of Liberty Elite's hotel rooms for the night, especially after taking advantage of the bar fare. This is exactly what the new couple in the reception queue on our arrival did. They might have been undecided about committing to full membership when they arrived – but they've certainly added to Liberty Elite's swelling ranks now!
